Document Review

We go line by line, so you don't have to.

Document review is one of the most painstaking jobs a lawyer has. But rest assured, we're just as meticulous on page 2,376 as we are on page one. We can streamline the review process to help you reduce risks and costs, improving your focus on other areas.

Our document review services include litigation, government investigations, fraud, internal investigations and regulatory matters (SEC, DOJ, etc.).

Project Example:

Client: International Mining Group

Problem: Client needed regulatory approval for an asset sale in excess of $500 million requiring a thorough yet timely response to the US Federal Trade Commission.

Result: A team of 50 US based attorneys reviewed over 35 million pages of documents. Within 48 hours of receiving instructions, the CPA Global team met with the client's outside counsel to understand the key issues and to agree to complete the project within three weeks. The review project saved $1.5 million in fees—nearly a 50% reduction in costs.

Buried under paperwork? We can dig you out.

Highly-trained, well-paid lawyers shouldn't spend the bulk of their time doing the little detail work, no matter how important it is. These tasks can eat up days and weeks that should be spent on bigger projects.

Instead of bogging down your staff, send that huge stack of documents or mountain of contracts out the door — and send it with confidence knowing it will be in the hands of legal specialists with 40 years of experience.
